

Policy: Conflict of Interest	Policy Number: I-6.5
Policy Owner(s): Human Resources	Original Date: 9/8/2015
Last Revised Date: 10/25/2018	Approved Date: 9/8/2015

- I. POLICY: John Carroll University expects its faculty, officers, and staff (“employees”) to make decisions in the University’s best interests when conducting University business. Therefore, JCU expects all employees to avoid or disclose actual conflicts or the appearance of conflicts of interest.

JCU employees who make decisions about University policies, contracts or purchases are most susceptible to conflicts of interest because they may find themselves in circumstances in which certain financial or other interests could impair their duty to act in the best interests of the University. In addition, they may have access to confidential information which could be used to the financial or other material benefit of themselves, their business associates or those with whom they have a Personal Relationship. Thus, while the policy applies to all, these influential employees should be especially careful about avoiding or disclosing conflicts.

This general University conflict of interest policy governs all faculty and staff members. Faculty and staff members involved in sponsored research are additionally governed by and must comply with the specific conflict of interest policy pertaining to sponsored research.

- II. PURPOSE: John Carroll University is committed to ensuring that the academic, administrative, business, research, consulting, supervisory, and other activities of its faculty and staff employees are in compliance with ethical, legal and appropriate business practices in the best interests of the University, as well as to adhere to the principles of ethics, openness, trust and free inquiry that are fundamental to the well-being of the University. As a result, the annual disclosure of external interests related to University responsibilities is conducted to help avoid or manage conflicts of interest or perceived conflicts of interest related to research, teaching and other University business and activities.

- III. SCOPE: All John Carroll University employees.
