Student learning outcomes (also called learning goals) are statements that express what students will know or be able to do. Goals for individual courses or events must be aligned with the goals for their program, and all program goals are aligned to the institution's.

Results from courses or events can inform the assessment of programs and the institution. Program results also inform institutional assessment.

28% of JCU students scored HIGH on the CIRP Leadership construct, according to the 2015 College Senior Survey. JCU students also showed a small (but significant) difference in mean scores compared to students at other Catholic and private four-year institutions in leadership (51.3 vs. 50).

??? JCU undergraduates occupy leadership positions in student organizations, as of DATE.

74% of JCU alumni currently provide leadership or play a leadership at work or in the community, according to the 2015 Undergraduate Alumni Survey.

500+ Northeast Ohio companies or organizations are owned or operated by JCU alumni, according to the 2015 Undergraduate Alumni Survey.

Leadership & Faculty and Staff:
According to the 2017 Survey on Jesuit Catholic Identity, 66.5% of respondents said their experience at JCU has contributed quite a bit or very much to their understanding of Leading by example. This score was just below the mean score for all Jesuit institutions.

Claim their identities as discerning leaders

One way that students at JCU claim their identities as discerning leaders is volunteering to take a leadership role after participating in an event. Another is participating in service learning activities when no longer required to do so.

??? of immersion participants take on leadership roles in immersions after participating.

??? students served as Resident Assistants, Tour Guides, Teaching Assistants, Tutors, and Peer Mentors in Spring 2018.

??? students participated in service not connected to a course in Spring 2018.

62% of JCU alumni participated in service in the past year, according to the 2015 Undergraduate Alumni

Program Spotlight: Leadership
According to their 2017 Annual Assessment Report, all of the scholars write a leadership style/philosophy statement each year. All did so successfully and showed growth in capitalizing on strengths and making ethical decisions.

Apply a framework for examining ethical dilemmas

96.37% of rubric scores from Core Values and Society courses were in the categories of met or exceeded expectations in 2016-2017.

98% of athletes agreed with the statement I realize the impact of my values in helping others and 97% agreed that I am willing to intervene if I see someone in need. (2017 Athletic Bystander Intervention Evaluation)

97% of participants in the Making a Difference programs can define consent, identify red flags for sexual violence, identify resources, and are willing to intervene in a situation.

Leadership & Faculty and Staff:
According to the 2017 Survey on Jesuit Catholic Identity, 55.2% of respondents said their experience at JCU has contributed quite a bit or very much to their understanding of making ethical decisions in professional situations.

Program Spotlight: Accountancy
According to the 2017 Annual Assessment Report, 97% of students in AC 431 (Auditing) met or exceeded expectations in their understanding of professional codes of conduct and ethical accounting.

Employ leadership and collaborative skills

JCU first-year students and seniors average scores on Collaborative Learning were significantly higher than our comparator schools and comparably with the institutions with scores in the top 50% of the 2017 National Survey of Student Engagement.

91.6% of fraternity and sorority members felt that Greek life had enhanced their skills: leadership, time management, communication, and conflict resolution, according to the 2017 Greek Experience Survey.

Live responsibly in accord with their personal belief system

60% of first-year students were positively certain they could help people who have experienced relationship or sexual violence, up from 33% prior to the training. (2017 Catalyst Bystander Intervention Program)

Key Fact
As students proceed through their JCU education, they are much less likely to have a Bias Report filed against them.
